

Mr. Kenneth Scicluna is the Head of the Health and Safety Unit within the Directorates for Educational Services in Malta. The remit of the unit spans from pre school level throughout compulsory school age. All schools are provided with the services of H&S teachers whose roles, led by Mr. Kenneth Scicluna, include risk assessing schools and compiling reports as per national legislation and also to create awareness through various initiatives within the schools. In the primary sector, a set programme of talks is delivered to all students each year whereas in the secondary school, the programme includes an Occupational H&S course for school leavers which includes:

- First Aid (full certification through Malta Red Cross)
- Occupational H&S Awareness
- Fire safety and fire fighting course

Kenneth Scicluna
MSc Occupational H&S Management, Brunel University (London)
IOSH (Grad)

