

ALUMNI EMPLOYMENT AND STUDENT MOBILITY NETWORKING IN THE FIELD OF OCCUPATIONAL SAFETY AND HEALTH

Davorin Kacian, Antun Matija Filipović

Project relevance concerning problems insufficient structure for for teaching staff further expansion:

indications.

Project relevance concerning target groups and end users

Employees of educational institutions, students, alumni and employers.

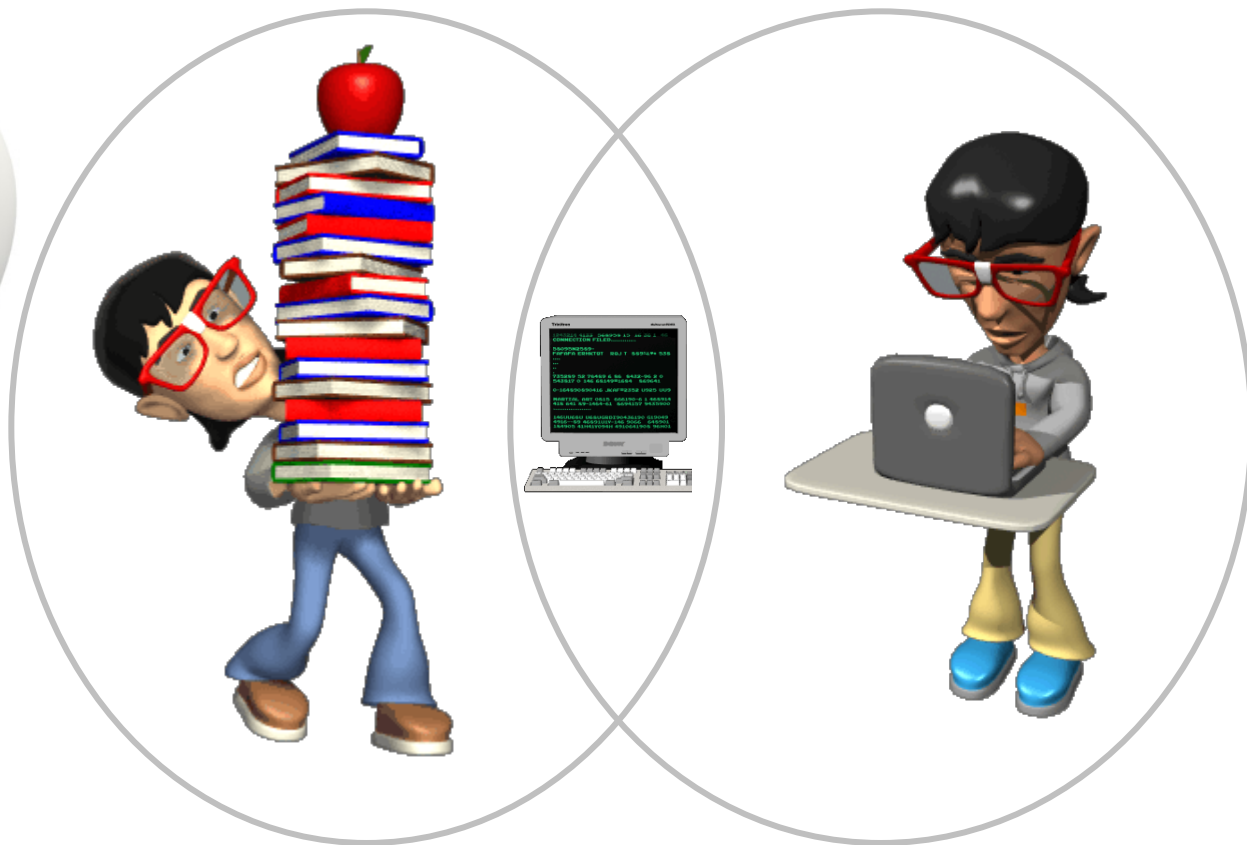

Target groups

600 Students

40 Alumni

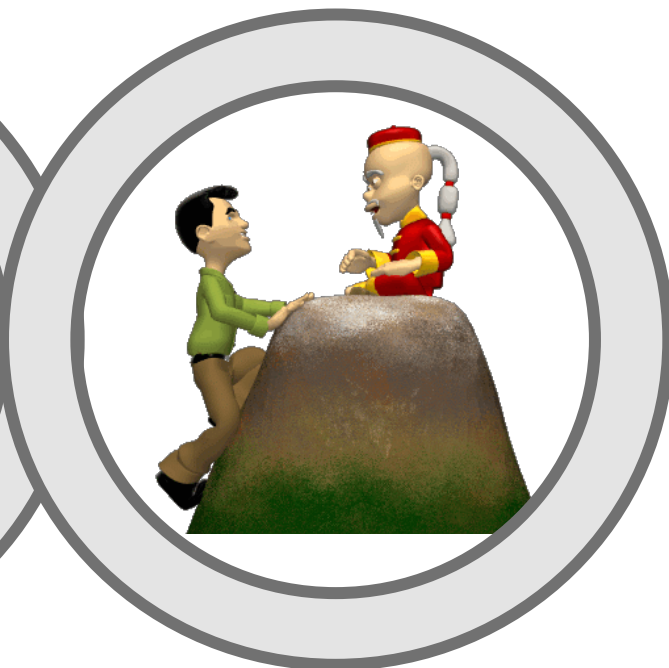

Target groups

100 employers

25 institutions

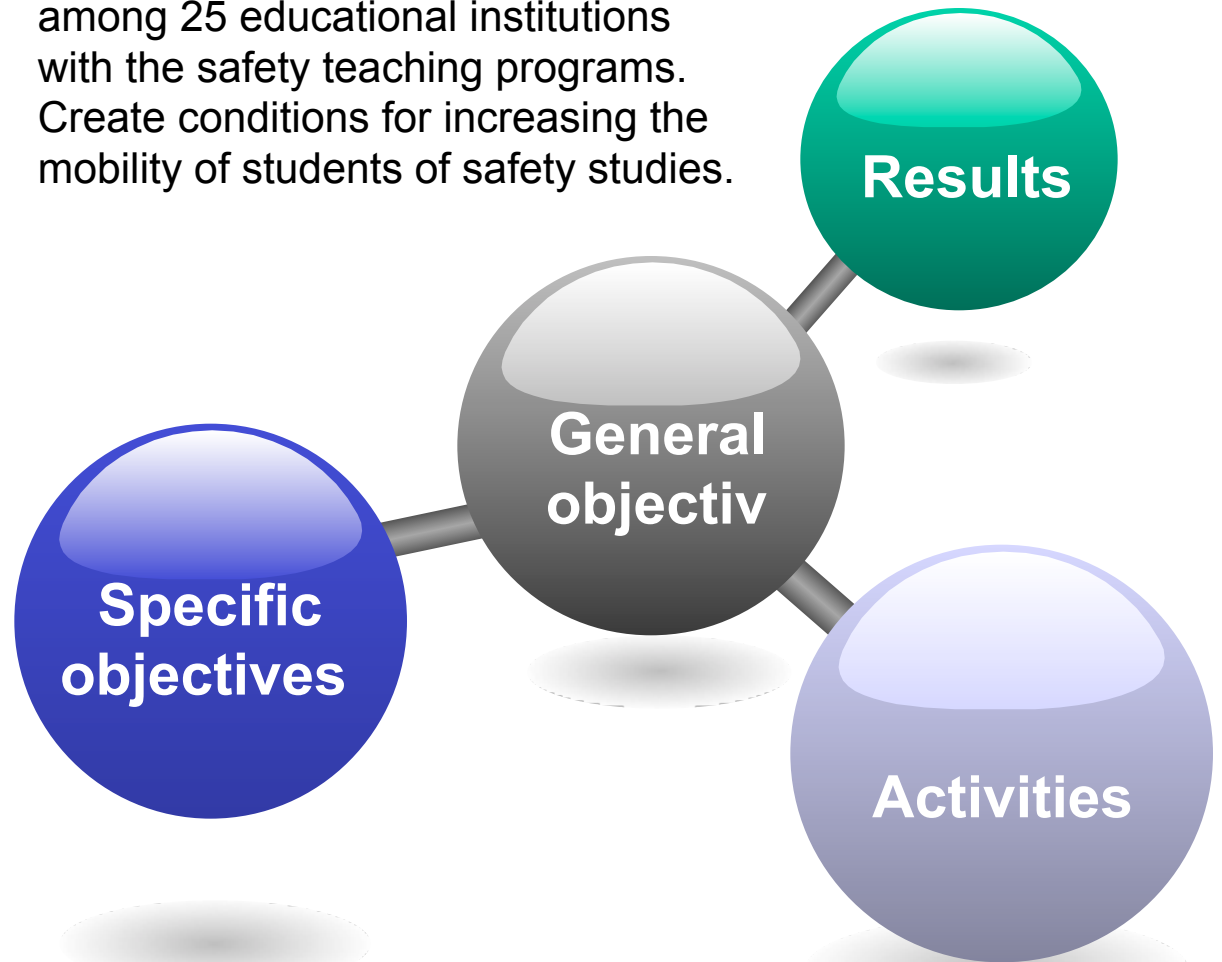

Increase alumni employability by creating network in the field of occupational safety and health.

Project description

Achieve the transfer of knowledge among 25 educational institutions with the safety teaching programs. Create conditions for increasing the mobility of students of safety studies.

Project sustainability

Define the structure of partners in the project.

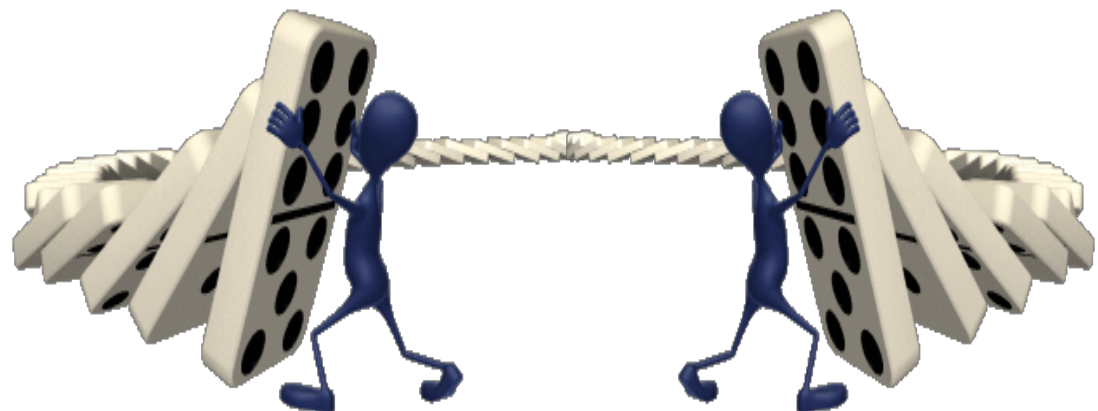

Make corrections of the summary.

Devise a tree of objectives and a strategy.

Propose duration and cost.

Achieving consensus.

Project realization.

What is expected of the network?

Create a website and other appropriate tools.

Annuals reports on the state of innovation in its area of activity.

Providing with full information about the network's events and activities.

Organise an annuals meetings in the thematic area of the network.

Take appropriate measures regarding the evaluation of the network's performance.

Which issues will academic networks tend to focus on?

Mapping the field.

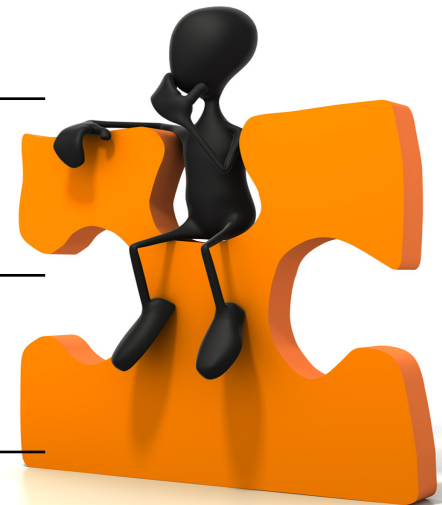

Quality assurance related to an academic thematic area.

Facilitating European co-operation.

Defining and updating generic and sectoral competences.

Promoting synergies between teaching and research.

Reinforcing the link between education and society.

Project managers

University College of Applied Sciences in Safety

Aleksandra Breščenskog 4, 10000 Zagreb, Croatia

Davorin Kacian, M.Sc.

davorin.kacian@vss.hr

T: +38514555666, F: +38514555800

Antun Matija Filipović, B.Sc.

antun.matija.filipovic@vss.hr

T: +38514555600, F: +38514555800