Seeking synergies to build ENETOSH

To sustain ENETOSH, there is a need to ensure its continued relevant and to find new participants.

Members have identified a potential "subgroup". These are the smaller academic departments who work in OSH. Large OSH institutions collaborate through the network PEROSH[1] but opportunities for the collaboration of smaller institutions or academic bodies is more limited.

Is there the potential for ENETOSH to reach out to these smaller academic departments or smaller institutions?

ENETOSH exists at the centre of this Venn Diagram, but not all participants need to be in all parts. There may be parts of academia who have been looking at OSH practice and have yet to apply this to the education sector.

ENETOSH could identify small academic bodies and bring them together in a (virtual) meeting at which, ENETOSH could be presented and potential benefits of engagement, particularly the opportunities for knowledge sharing and the possibility of future projects and funding opportunities.
