

Task Force 1:

Dissemination and implementation of the 'Good Healthy School' internationally

Brief report

One important step of the TF 1 is still clear, even if we still have to see in the near future, which network partners can actively contribute and make further contributions. We will have to win more members of ENETOSH for the TF 1 in the future.

To support the future work of TF 1, e. g. the next three years a post for research, promoted by the Unfallkasse, at Leuphana University Lüneburg was planned to build up. At the moment, the parties to the contract are stuck in a longer-lasting but necessary legal settlement process.

The person who will work there will be actively involved in ENETOSH and in the work of TF 1 and will use the ENETOSH contacts.

The elaboration of the four fields of action, especially in action fields 1 and 3, in which a status quo analysis has to be carried out will cause much work. It is planned to review the ENETOSH database and to search in other relevant database systems to identify best practice models that are in line with the 'Good Healthy School' approach and to find similar approaches in Europe. We would like to relaunch the "Good Healthy School" website of ENETOSH and identify entry or contact points where national and international developments in education and health can be linked to the concept of a "Good Healthy School".

Another goal to be pursued is to identify individuals and organizations able and willing to support the technical and / or organizational development of the Good Healthy School concept (mainly dissemination and implementation) and also establish contacts with other initiatives. In connection with this, attempts to produce fruitful cooperation should be made in the future.

http://www.enetosh.net/webcom/show_article.php/ c-217/ nr-2/ lkm-212/i.html